

InPrint Magazine: First Impressions

This is the first edition of a student run magazine. I was the Art Director and was in charge of the visual voice and identity of both the magazine and the club. I collaborated with the rest of the board and general members of the club to create the printed magazine.